My dear Maria de Lourdes,

I was very happy to get your article which arrived on the 11th. We really appreciate your generosity in writing when, we know, you haven't a minute to spare. I had already sent the English Journal for composition (the Dutch printers are pretty strict about dates), but since the French is a long way behind, and won't go for composition till next week, your article will appear in French Journal 1, and in English Journal 2. I don't think this slight change of programme matters, do you?

As for article 2, it would be good to develop it as you suggest: deepest motivation - love, sacrifice and service. My assistant (doesn't that sound chic?) whose idea it was to have the articles on leadership, asks if you could have the following points in mind: spiritual development of a leader, place of a lay theology in student leadership; nature of effect a leader has on a group - theological, spiritual, psychological; nature of a leader as a personality in relation to the group.

We expect Thom back on 25th, just in time for the birth of his first child. He visited several Asian countries after Manila. Says the impression we got in Manila of having good chaplains is strengthened by the outstanding priests he has met on the return journey. Deo gratias!... Much love from us all. I'm not forgetting the personal letter I promised.

Bridaine
Bridaine.

PS: I'll see you get a copy of English Journal 1. Should be ready by end of the month. B.
