Dear Premier Pintassilgo:

I have recently learned of your appointment as Premier of Portugal and would like to extend my congratulations to you on behalf of my organization.

As you may know, the AIChE is the largest chemical engineering organization in the world, with 46,000 members employed in industry, education, government and private research.

We want to wish you sincere good luck as you begin in your new position, one which is a credit to the world engineering community. I, as a professional engineer, have high hopes that your broad engineering training will help you in managing a successful future for your Country.

Sincerely yours,

J. Charles Forman
