

- Wan Lie (Secretary General of the Institute)
Accent on ~~our~~ desire for exchange, invitation extended to other Portuguese people we may recommend; open criticism of the period of the Cultural Revolution

- Tseng Li (member of Central Committee of the Chinese Communist Party) in charge of foreign relations)
An old acquaintance of mine as he was also Ambassador to Unesco like myself during the time I was there. Very cultivated & open man with whom exchange of people from \neq countries could be thought of;

- Zang (Fundação Cuidado Futuro)

Again a former colleague of at the Executive Board of Unesco; possible contact through her friend, a ~~rather~~ bright & cultivated woman, Secretary General of Nat. Com. of UNESCO

- \times (vice gov. of Shaanxi province)

- Bishop - head of the Catholic patriotic church - comments ~~after~~ later in this report

Highlights + remarks

- Peking is the least technological capital I have ever seen! Public transportation is scarce, in the whole country there are #less than 10^6 cars and they are all state property, serving either for official purposes or as taxis. Everyone moves around in bicycle. The spectacle of thousands of people going ~~with their~~ ^{through} special lanes in the big avenues is ~~unique~~ + unforgettable! The traffic jam ~~moving~~ with the bicycles can only be compared with the car jam in Cairo or Lisbon!!

Fundação Cuidar o Futuro

- China, both in Peking + in the province of Shaanxi, appeared to me as a society where social classes are indistinguishable! Everyone has the same type of poor but decent cloth, now the jackets + blouse (white is the greatest majority). Maybe after a century times there, it will be possible to distinguish the type of activity the person does by her gestures, attitudes, + even expression in their face! ~~As we were denied to~~ ~~authorities we had no contact~~

- It is striking that ~~at~~ everyone we met, after some contact, had the same over-critical attitude towards the past in the periods 66-76. Most of them said they had been during that time in reduction camps. ~~We do~~ At the moment the policy is geared towards contacts with every possible ~~contact~~ country.
